Policy Regarding Children Having Mobile Phones In School

The school understands that parents like older children to bring a phone to school so that they can check that they are safe on the homeward journey.

Therefore, the school does not operate an outright ban on phones.

However, children are not allowed to use the phones at school and they should be turned off on school premises.

Children bring phones into school at their own risk. The school will accept no responsibility for any phones brought into school: for loss, theft or damage.

Children who do not follow these guidelines will have their phones confiscated and returned only to their parent or guardian.
